PROPOSALS FOR PUBLISHING AN
HISTORY OF THE LIFE OF THE ILLUSTRIOUS
GEORGE WASHINGTON,
Commander in Chief of the American Armies during our revolutionary war with Great Britain, first President of the United States, and since, Lieutenant General of the Army.
BY JOSEPH SCOTT,
Author of the Modern Geographical Dictionary, in four volumes octavo.
OF the various methods which different writers pursue in order to convey useful knowledge to mankind, Biography stands confessedly among the first. There is none more interesting—none more instructive and entertaining. The histories of distinguished heroes, who have, by their exalted virtues, and noble and splendid actions, been the principal means of redeeming their respective countries from the corroding hand of tyranny, have in all ages been considered the most entertaining, instructive, and important to mankind. They afford example; and example is more powerful than precept. It strengthens, by a plain and easy mode of analogical reasoning, the principles of the timid, determines and fixes those that are wavering, and ultimately lays the basis for that harmony and coincidence of sentiment among the citizens; from which only, a nation can hope to derive rank, consequence and stability.
Impressed with lively sentiments of the eminent virtues of that distinguished HERO and PATRIOT, the history of whose life I have undertaken to write; it was not till after much reflection I resolved on issuing these proposals. —The following considerations induced me to this; First, having obtained in the course of an extensive correspondence, with many gentlemen of talents and information, a large stock of original materials concerning the life of this Illustrious Citizen; to give form and body to these, in the manner of history, will preserve many important things that otherwise would most probably be lost. Secondly, as many of the most interesting transactions of his life, since he resigned his commission as Commander in chief of our revolutionary armies, are very imperfectly recorded, and little understood; yet the greater part of them being fresh in the memories of many, this must be the fittest time to embody them; before a succession of objects, which every day brings forth, wears off the minuter circumstances. There are many of these circumstances important and interesting; as it is universally acknowledged, that great actions, like immense rivers, flow from small beginnings.
CONDITIONS.
I. The Life of General Washington will contain nearly 400 pages octavo, printed on fine paper, and in a style of elegance equal to any work that has appeared from an American press.
II. It will be embellished with a striking likeness of the General, executed by one of the first artists.
III. Subscribers' names will be annexed, as patrons.
IV. Each subscriber is to pay two dollars, one half on subscribing, the remainder on the delivery of the work.
Subscriptions in this city are received at No. 297 Arch street, next door to the north west corner of Eighth street.

Foreign Intelligence.

FROM THE LONDON GAZETTE.

Downing-street, Oct. 26.

Lieutenant-Colonel Clinton, Aid-de-Camp to his Royal Highneſs the Duke of York, arrived this morning at the office of the Right Hon. Henry Dundas, with diſpatches of which the following are copies.

Head quarters, Schagen-Brug, Oct. 20.

SIR,

IN my laſt communications I have repreſented to you the circumſtances under which I found it expedient to withdraw the army from its forward poſition, in front of Alkmaer, within that which is at preſent occupied, and which, I truſt, will have appeared to his Majeſty ſufficient to warrant the meaſure. The ſeaſon of the year, which has already aſſumed here the aſpect of winter, gave me, from day to day, additional reaſon to apprehend that any attempt towards a proſecution of the campaign in this country could not be attended with deciſive advantages, whilſt the impoſſibility of covering the troops in the narrow diſtrict of the country in our poſſeſſion during the winter, and the precarious ſtate of ſupplies to be expected in that ſeaſon, added to the conviction I felt, that the moſt adviſeable meaſure to be purſued was to remove with the army to England; an operation which, although it might have expoſed the army to ſome loſs in its execution, I judged in my mind preferable to any other which could be adopted.

Under this impreſſion and conſidering that ſerious loſs might enſue from delay, I have been induced to conclude an armiſtice, in connection with Vice-Admiral Mitchell, with Gen. Brune, commanding the French and Batavian armies, of which the conditions are incloſed, and which, although they provide for delivering up a large number of priſoners of war, now in our hands, yet I truſt will not be thought by his majeſty an inadequate compenſation for many valuable lives which muſt have been loſt, after the object which has hitherto directed them, no longer promiſed ſucceſs; and when the only means which preſented themſelves of enſuring ſucceſs a ſecure retreat were, thoſe of reſorting to the deſtructive meaſure of inundation from the ſea, which, as it would have involved the inhabitants of the northern part of this province to ruin for a ſeries of years, muſt have been highly repugnant to the feelings, as well as contrary to the character and practice of the Britiſh nation. I reſt confident, that the motives which I have here detailed, will excuſe me to his majeſty for having acted without writing for previous inſtructions from home, and that I ſhall have the ſatisfaction of knowing that my conduct, in this reſpect, has met with his Majeſty's gracious approbation.

I am, &c.

(Signed) FREDERICK.

ARTICLES

Agreed upon between Major General Knox, duly authoriſed by his Royal Highneſs the Duke of York, Commander in Chief of the combined Engliſh and Ruſſian Army, and Citizen Roſtollant, General of Brigade, and Adjutant General, duly authoriſed by Citizen Brune, General and Commander in Chief of the French and Batavian Armies.

Art. I. From the date of this convention, all hoſtilities ſhall ceaſe between the two armies.

Art. II. The line of Demarcation between the ſaid armies ſhall be the line of their reſpective out-poſts, as they now exiſt.

Art. III. The continuation of all works, offenſive and defenſive, ſhall be ſuſpended on both ſides, and no new ones ſhall be undertaken.

Art. IV. The mounted batteries taken poſſeſſion of at the Helder, or at other poſitions within the line now occupied by the combined Engliſh and Ruſſian army, ſhall be reſtored in the ſtate in which they were taken, or (in caſe of improvement) in their preſent ſtate, and all the Dutch Artillery taken therein ſhall be preſerved.

Art. V. The combined Engliſh and Ruſſian army ſhall embark as ſoon as poſſible, and ſhall evacuate the territory, coaſts, iſlands, and internal navigation of the Dutch Republic, by the 30th of November, 1799, without committing any devaſtation, by inundations, cutting the dykes, or other ways injuring the ſources of navigation.

Art. VI. Any ſhips of war, or other veſſels which may arrive with reinforcements for the combined Britiſh and Ruſſian army, ſhall not land the ſame, and ſhall be ſent away as ſoon as poſſible.

Art. VII. General Brune ſhall be at liberty to ſend an officer within the lines of the Zuyp, and to the Helder, to report to him the ſtate of the batteries, and the progreſs of embarkation. His Royal Highneſs the Duke of York ſhall be equally at liberty to ſend an officer within the French and Batavian lines, to ſatisfy himſelf that no new works are carried on on their ſide. An officer of rank and diſtinction ſhall be ſent from each army reſpectively, to guarantee the execution of this convention.

Art. VIII. Eight thouſand priſoners of war, French and Batavians, taken before the preſent campaign, and now detained in England, ſhall be reſtored, without conditions, to their reſpective countries. The proportion and the choice of ſuch priſoners, for each, to be determined between the two republics. Major General Knox ſhall remain with the French army to guarantee the execution of this article.

Art. IX. The Cartel agreed upon between the two armies for the exchange of the priſoners taken during the preſent campaign, ſhall continue in full force till it ſhall be carried into complete execution; and it is further agreed that the Dutch admiral de Winter ſhall be conſidered as exchanged.

Concluded at Alkmaer, the 18th of October, 1799, by the underſigned General officers, furniſhed with full power to this effect.

LONDON October 28.

The mails of the 4th inſtant, for Hamburgh, ſent on board his majeſty's ſhip La Lutine, of 32 guns, were found floating near the bank on which the ſhip was loſt.

A private letter from an officer in our army in Holland, dated the 20th, ſtates, that Col. Cunningham is ſtill alive—His chin being ſhot away, the ſkin of his neck is ſewed to his upper lip; he is in good ſpirits, and likely to recover. Major Grey is in a dangerous ſituation. Capt. King of the 5th is dead. Capt. Coleman of the guards, is alive, tho' a ball paſſed through his body. Prince William of Glouceſter has ſhipped his carriages. The flux increaſes for want of rice. There is a great want of ſtraw. None of the officers have beds, they all ſleep on hay.

The following account of the late detention of Gen. Don, is given in a letter from the Hague of the 14th inſt.—"Gen. Don arrived at the head-quarters of Gen. Daendals at the moment of the attack on the 6th inſtant. The Duke of York expected that he ſhould beat the left wing of the French on that day, which might open the road for negociation with the Dutch. Gen. Daendels ſent Gen. Don to Gen. Brune, who detained him as a priſoner of war; a ſummons to the Batavian government to commence negociations with England, ſigned by the Duke of York, being found amongſt his papers."

It was with concern we learned yeſterday, that a private letter received yeſterday from Bengal by a reſpectable individual, announces the death of the gallant captain Cooke, whoſe exertions on board La Sybille were lately ſo honorably noticed on the part of the directors of the Eaſt India Company, by the preſent of a ſword: He was a young man of the moſt ſplendid abilities and acknowledged bravery.

MANHEIM, October 14.

Since yeſterday the French have paſſed the Rhine on ſeveral points between this place and Mentz.—One part of our troops has marched againſt them.

LINDAU, October 17.

Yeſterday Field Marſhal Suwarrow arrived before our city with an army of 24 thouſand men. The General himſelf, the Grand Duke Conſtantine, and their whole ſtaff, took up their quarters in this city, but the army is encamped before it. To day they were about to march, but a courier arriving from the Archduke, who is at Donaueſchingen, their departure was countermanded, and it is now ſaid they will remain here.

This evening we received the certain news, that General Korſakow, with his whole corps will arrive by to morrow, to join the army of Suwarrow, probably to penetrate with their united forces into Switzerland, from the ſide of the Rhinethan, while the Archduke paſſes the Rhine near Schaffhauſen. At preſent, the United Ruſſian, form the centre, the Auſtrian army in Italy the left, and that of the Archduke the right wing of the allied army.

VIENNA, October 19.

The accounts received from Switzerland contain nothing of importance. They only ſtate that Field Marſhal Suwarrow has taken a poſition in the ſmaller cantons, and that the Archduke's army is ſtationed along the Rhine.

The troops for completing the regiments of Preiſs and Deutſchmeiſter have been ſent off for Italy, a few days ſince, in waggons.

General Frolich, with the troops under his command, and 4000 Ruſſians, who landed on the Neapolitan territory, has received orders to return to Upper Italy; but whether the Ruſſians will remain there, or proceed to Switzerland, is not known.

It is ſaid that the Spaniſh Cardinals will take no ſhare in the election of a Pope.

(From the Court Gazette.)

"According to advice received from his Royal Highneſs the Archduke Charles, dated Donaueſchingen, October 8. the enemy croſſed the Rhine on the 4th, in ſeveral places, attacked a piquet of Ulahos, belonging to the advanced poſts of the Prince of Schwartzenberg, near Sandhofen, when both parties made ſome priſoners, and the enemy retired. Near Selz the enemy alſo made an attempt to croſs the river, but were unſucceſsful, General Meerveldt was attacked at the ſame time, with conſiderable force, near Kehl, and repulſed at firſt, but he ſoon ſucceeded in driving the enemy beyond their entrenchments at Kehl. On the 6th the enemy made a reconnoitring party againſt the bridge head at Buſſingen, and the poſition of the Ruſſian Lieutenant General Korſakow; on the 7th, that General attacked the enemy and drove them with great loſs from the heights of Trullikon, but the French receiving re-inforcements from all quarters, General Korſakow was obliged to retreat to his former poſition. The enemy upon this made two repeated attacks with great impetuoſity upon the bridge head, but were each time repulſed and driven back with the loſs of 1500 men, ſeveral priſoners and a howitzer, to the heights of Trullikon.

"According to accounts from the General of cavalry, Melas, the enemy on the 9th inſt. in the morning attacked our advanced poſts in the neighbourhood of Coni, in different points, and actually ſucceeding in repulſing the two poſts of Marguaritta and Bucca; but three battallions of Grenadiers and Lobkowitz dragoons haſtening to the ſupport of Generals Gottersheim and Marozzo, the enemy were every where driven back, and the troops re-occupyed their former poſitions, will be able to meet the repeated attacks of the enemy with vigour.—Meanwhile the enemy quitted their poſition at Col de la Rouſte which was taken poſſeſſion of by our troops, who are now making excurſions unto the mountains to obſerve the motions of the enemy."

PHILADELPHIA,
FRIDAY EVENING, JANUARY 10.

MR. FENNO,

The Author of the following Extract in compliance with the solicitations of several of his friends, has permitted me to hand it to you, for publication. Yours,

A Subscriber.

Extract from a Sermon, "on the shortness, uncertainty, and consequent value of Human Life;" preached, December 29, 1799, in Christ Church and St. Peter's, by the Rev. Mr. ABERCROMBIE, one of the assistant Ministers of said Churches.

"BRETHREN; another year of our probation is almost gone, and all our thoughts, words, and actions, during its silent, yet rapid revolution, are recorded in Heaven's awful register; on whose important page depends our future happiness or woe. Tremendous thought! But, what says Conscience, that still, small, piercing voice within? Can we with composed and stedfast gaze behold, in the unclouded mirror of the Gospel, our late departed hours pass in review, and say she whispers peace? Or, rather, during such inspection, doth not that faithful monitor proclaim, that they are gone to testify against us "trumpet-tongued;" and that, like Belshazzar of old, when weighed in the balance of the Sanctuary, we shall be "found wanting?" If so, well may we, like that unhappy monarch, be "greatly terrified, and the thoughts of our heart trouble us;" since Life is so uncertain, Death inevitable, and Judgment the sure consequence.

To creatures, therefore, of a day, whose every passing moment hangs suspended by the trembling hand of Time, over Eternity's immeasurable gulph, by a tie lighter than air; to creatures of such uncertain duration, surely the termination of a year is a most important event, and should induce a solemn pause, in which we should seriously review our conduct during the past portion of our life, and form such resolution for the improvement of that which is to come, as will enable us to give an account with joy, and to render up our stewardship with the consciousness of fidelity. Time to come, like that which is past, will assuredly be accompanied by disease and death; and if reflection extends its scrutiny only over the expiring year, it will furnish many affecting proofs of the uncertainty of human life. How many hearts have been rent and torn, by the agonizing pangs of separation from their fondest, their closest connections? And do we not now behold the Ensigns of the universal and irresistible Conqueror of our species displayed in this solemn Temple, to mark his triumph over one of the most celebrated of the sons of men? Over one, in whom was centered the affections and confidence of a whole nation, however its individuals were distinguished by sect, or separated by opposition of political sentiment; over one, who was elevated by the general suffrages of his countrymen, to the most conspicuous superiority of station, both in military and civil life; over one, of whom, could the wishes of a grateful people have availed to protract his life, they would have been loudly expressed, in one voice, with the ardor and enthusiasm of Eastern sublimity, O WASHINGTON, LIVE FOR EVER! —Yet, even he, this far-famed Hero, Sage, and Patriot, now lies numbered with the mighty dead: at a period too, the most interesting and eventful in the annals of time; amid the convulsion of empires, and the general distress of nations! He is gone down, however, to the grave, "the house appointed for all the living," in peace, and at the same time exhibiting a striking example, of the indiscriminate, and sometimes unexpected arrest of death, to a mourning continent, and an admiring world.

'Bearing his blushing honors thick upon him,'

As some majestic Promontory, which rears its awful head on high, the pride and ornament of its native soil, is, by the unceasing current of the ocean, gradually undermined, and at length tumbles, with terrific noise, and wide extended ruin, into the vast profound;—so fell this distinguished Chieftain,—suddenly exchanging Time for Eternity.

When uncommon worth forsakes the world, 'tis impious not to mourn: Yet, even under the present bereavement, tho' the sigh of patriotism, and the tear of affection, pour forth their natural but unavailing tribute of affliction, the soothing accents of Religion, whose peculiar office it is to administer consolation, forbid us to indulge excess of grief, or to "sorrow as those who have no hope," by affording us the most unquestionable assurance, that the next state of existence, being a state of retribution, will prove to the virtuous a state of reward and happiness supreme, where "there shall be no more sickness, sorrow, pain, or death,"

But one unclouded, never-ending day,
Of Peace, Serenity, and Joy.

MR. FENNO,

A Correspondent wishes to be informed who is the Editor of the Aurora, a newspaper published lately in this city by B. F. Bache.—It has been said, the Editor is one Duane—who published a pamphlet with the signature of "Jasper Dwight of Vermont," insulting the late General Washington for recommending a regard to Religion, in his farewell address, upon quitting the Chief Magistracy of the Union.—Others have been named as being the real, if not nominal Editors. There is so little regard for decency or truth in the late ebullitions which have made their appearance in that paper, that information who the Editor is, will be grateful to the public. A. B.

There is every prospect, that Mr. WOODS, Fellow of Nassau Hall, Princeton, a Federal Gentleman, of the first class, and a man of various, extensive and solid powers, tho' not brilliant and flashy, will succeed old Havens, the Shelter-Island Philosopher, so untimely gone to the other Continent.

"Extinctum Nymphæ, crudeli funere, Daphnim,

The conduct of Monroe, Madison, Burr, &c. towards the younger fry of sedition, is like that of their prototypes, the French revolutionists, towards their conscripts. These are sent forward to bear the brunt of opposition, while the veterans skulk secure behind them, their stalking-horses.

MARRIED]—Last evening by the Rev. Mr. Shafer, Germantown, Mr. JOHN EDMUND HARWOOD, to Miss ELIZA FRANKLIN BACHE.

The following letters were sent on Wednesday to Congress, by the President of the United States.

Gentlemen of the Senate, and Gentlemen of the House of Representatives,

IN compliance with the request in one of the resolutions of Congress of the 21st of December last, I transmitted a copy of those resolutions by my Secretary, Mr. Shaw, to Mrs. Washington, assuring her of the profound respect Congress will ever bear to her person and character—of their condolence in the late afflicting dispensation of Providence, and entreating her assent to the interment of the remains of GENERAL GEORGE WASHINGTON, in the manner expressed in the first resolution.—As the sentiments of that virtuous lady, not less beloved by this nation, than she is at present greatly afflicted, can never be so well expressed as in her own words; I transmit to Congress her original letter.

It would be an attempt of too much delicacy, to make any comments upon it;—but there can be no doubt that the nation at large, as well as all the branches of the government, will be highly gratified by any arrangement which may diminish the sacrifice she makes of her individual feelings.

JOHN ADAMS.

United States, Jan. 8, 1800.

Mrs. WASHINGTON's LETTER.

Mount Vernon, Dec. 31, 1799

SIR,

WHILE I feel with keenest anguish, the late dispensations of Divine Providence, I cannot be insensible to the mournful tributes of respect and veneration, which are paid to the memory of my dear deceased Husband; and, as his best services and most anxious wishes, were always devoted to the welfare and happiness of his country, to know that they were truly appreciated, and gratefully remembered, affords no inconsiderable consolation.

Taught by the great example, which I have so long had before me never to oppose my private wishes to the public will, I must consent to the request made by Congress, which you have had the goodness to transmit to me, and in doing this I need not, I cannot say what a sacrifice of individual feeling I make to a sense of public duty.

With grateful acknowledgment and unfeigned thanks for the personal respect and evidences of condolence expressed by Congress and yourself,

I remain very respectfully,
Sir,
Your most obedient and
Humble Servant,
MARTHA WASHINGTON.

The President of the United States.

Just Published,

A COMPENDIOUS SYSTEM

Of Practical Surveying and dividing of land; briefly comprized under the following heads, viz.

TWENTY-THREE Geometrical Definitions, eleven Geometrical Positions, exhibiting to view the properties and dependencies of triangles; followed by problems and examples preparatory to Trigonometry, heights and distances. Then fifteen problems and examples necessarily previous to calculating a Survey succeeded by seven surveys, the area of the four first is found geometrically, and of the whole number by difference of latitude and departure, shewing how to take an inaccessible boundary, find the bearing and distance of the closing line without running it, also the distances to an inaccessible corner from the two adjacent corners, followed by examples of offsets on to winding streams of water, shewing how to ascertain the area without the trouble of measuring the windings with chains and instruments—a crooked water course straitened, and a quantity of land on each side found by these offsets.

Ten examples of dividing land, with many sub-divisions, leading into the most critical circumstances that can occur in practice; an example of Intersections, and an example shewing how the bearings of a field may be truly taken where the needle is attracted, altho' the attraction may vary in quantity and denomination at every station; examples shewing the method of measuring by the chain only. All the rules are clear and explicit. This work contains the tables of difference of latitude and departure and of logarithms.

Orders sent to Joseph and James Cruckshank, Booksellers, No. 87, High-street, Philadelphia, Bonsall and Niles, 173, Market Street, Baltimore, or the Subscriber in Wilmington (Del.) will be duly attended to.

Those who have the care of subscription papers for this work, are raquested to send their respective numbers as soon as possible, to whom the quota's will be sent agreeably to the proposals.

TO THE PUBLIC.

THE time being fixed on, when the MILITARY LAND (commonly called Knox's) WARRANTS, granted to the United States' army, are to be registered and located,—the subscribers have explored that tract of land on which those warrants are to be laid; with a view, and for the purpose of offering their services as locaters.

We take the liberty of suggesting, "that weare at least as well acquainted with the situation, quality of the soil, &c. of the different townships in the aforesaid tract, as any other person:" this will, perhaps, appear more clearly, by observing, that WILLIAM C. SCHENK assisted in running the Indian boundary line; at which time he considerably traversed that tract: he also assisted in surveying and laying it off into townships, and at other times ranged over it, to gain information. But to obtain a more complete and accurate knowledge, we have lately spent between two and three months, with several assistants, in particularly examining the different townships and quarter townships; by which means we have acquired an accurate knowledge of the whole district.—We now offer our services to the public, as Locaters, with assurances that we will locate every persons warrants intrusted to us to the best advantage, agreeably to their rights of location, which is to be determined according to law. For our services we demand the one equal tenth part, either in lands or warrants, when we locate a full tract, of four thousand acres or more, for one person or firm; the land to be taken in a square, at a corner of the tract; which corner is to be equitably determined before the time of location.—The one equal sixth part, in cash or warrants, when we connect and locate any amount less than four thousand acres. We will be in Philadelphia from December next, until after the time of location, to transact this business. Any person wishing to satisfy himself farther, will please to call on us, by letter, (postage paid) or otherwise; when due attention will be paid, and such vouchers may be seen as we have to offer, which we hope will be satisfactory.

A NEW LINE OF STAGES,

NOW RUNNING BETWEEN

PHILADELPHIA & NEW-YORK,

By the short and pleasant road of Bustleton, Newtown, Scotch Plains, Springfield and Newark.

THE excellence of this road, the populousness of the country through which it passes, with sundry other advantages, which render it so far preferable to the Old Road through Bristol, Brunswick, &c. long ago suggested the propriety of its becoming the Grand Thorough Fare from Philadelphia to New York. During the present year, a minute survey of it has been taken, and its superiority over the Old Road, both in winter and summer, has been clearly ascertained.—There are good bridges over all the other waters but the Delaware, and here the crossing is performed with great safety and in less than half the time required at the Trenton Ferry. The road is several miles shorter than the old road, but this is amongst the least of its advantages, because daily experience proves to us, that dispatch as well as comfort in travelling principally depend on the goodness of the road and the levelness of the country, and, in these respects, the New Road is, beyond all comparison, the best. It presents none of those rocky hills, which render the Old Road so fatiguing between the Delaware and Newark. The soil, too, for the greater part, is such as to produce but little mud in winter, and very little dust in summer, which circumstance, added to the beauty of the country, and a considerable proportion of shade, must always render travelling in the latter season peculiarly agreeable.

The Swift Sure starts from PHILADELPHIA, at 6 o'clock every morning (Sundays excepted) from the GREEN TREE, opposite the Lutheran Church, North Fourth street. It goes through Frankford to Bustleton, where it stops to Breakfast; from Bustletown it goes through Newtown to Penny-town to dinner; from Penny-town through Hopewell, Millstone, Bound-brook, Quibbletown and Plainfield to Scotch Plains to lodge. The next morning it stops at Springfield to breakfast, from whence it goes through Newark and arrives at New-York at noon.

From NEW-YORK it starts at 3 o'clock in the afternoon (from Paulus Hook) and arrives at Philadelphia the next evening. For seats at New-York, application may be made to Edward Bardin, Old Coffee house, to A. Mathieu, corner of Nassau and John streets, to B. Many, no. 48, Courtlandt, corner of Greenwich street, and to Michael Little, at his hotel, no. 42, Broad street.

Fare for passengers, Five Dollars.
Way passengers 6 Cents per Mile.

Each passenger is allowed to take on 14lbs. of baggage carriage free; but all other baggage, taken on by a passenger, will be charged at 4 cents per pound weight.

With respect to packages sent on without passengers, the proprietors presume they have adopted a regulation, which, though unknown to other lines of stages, they think must meet with general approbation, They pledge themselves to make good every package on the following conditions. The person who delivers the package at the office shall see it entered in the stage-book, for which entry he shall pay 6 cents; he will then state the value of the package, and pay (exclusive of the carriage) one per cent. on the value, as insurance, and for which he will receive a receipt. Thus, for instance, if he estimates his package at one dollar, he will pay one cent, and if at one hundred dollars, he will pay one dollar insurance, and in like proportion for packages of any other value.

Very few persons it is presumed, will dislike this regulation; it will however, be optionable with every one to avail himself of this security or not. But the proprietors think it right to state very explicitly, that they will be responsible for the safe delivery of no package, which is not regularly entered, and for which an insurance receipt cannot be produced.

In the distribution of the route, the greatest care has bren taken to fix on such places and taverns as always afford a good accommodation and entertainment for the passengers at the most reasonable rates The stages are well equipped furnished with fleet and steady horses, and committed to the care of intelligent sober and obliging drivers. The proprietors themselves live at the different towns and villages where the stages will stop, so that the conduct of the persons they employ is continually an object of their attention.—They take care also to see that the passengers are well provided for and politely treated at the taverns, and that no sort of insolence or insolence is practised upon them short, they have spared neither pains nor to render the SWIFT-SURE the very of stages in America.

The line has now run nearly a month during which time a great number of gentlemen have gone through, both from Philadelphia New-York. Every passenger has found the road to surpass very far all that has been said of its excellence; and the Proprietors of the Swift Sure are extremely happy to hear the behaviour of their drivers, and the treatment at the taverns spoken of with the highest satisfaction
